

Internal Assessment Planner

Use this document to create a plan for your upcoming Internal Assessment. Put in as much information as you can. This document doesn't commit you to your topic. You can use it again when you decide on exactly what you want to do.

What is your topic? This will be the basis for the theory that underpins your study.

Study to be replicated.

Which design will you use? Independent samples or repeated measures?

What would be your IV and DV? What units will you use for your DV?

How many participants will you need? Is there anything that would disqualify a participant from being in your sample?

What is your procedure?

What materials will you need to carry out your procedure?

What kind of data will you get? And which statistics do you think you will apply?
